SAM RAYBURN

OVER 40 years in Congress, Speaker of the House of Representative longer than any man. After these long years of public service—there has not been a skeleton to jump out of his closet—that is a record that any American can be justly proud. That's one that even the Editorial writers of the Dallas Morning News should be proud of along with all Americans. But they say in an editorial that Sam Rayburn puts his "District First," before he puts America First. What an unkind, uncouth remark to be made by, of course, paid editorial writers, that have to write what they are given instructions to write. Now we are not going to fall out with the Dallas News for their support of Republican Alger because we know very little about Alger but, of course, his conservatism suits the Dallas News fine, UNLESS, they want something for their own town. And true they do. A mere 24 millions of dollars to build a "little ole building" that will save the down town area of "BIG D." Now Alger in his words had this to say: If it takes the delay of building to answer the defense needs of America, put America on a cash basis and cut taxes—then Dallas is willing to join all the other cities of the country and forgo all public building until a more PROPITIOUS time—BUT Dallas says: Dallas needs the building. Public service needs it. "Yes as long as Dallas needs it — are they putting America FIRST, or DALLAS FIRST.

Yes, these Editors have not agreed with Sam Rayburn 100% but we do agree that when ever the Dallas News or any other paper says that Sam Rayburn puts his district First — before he puts America First — then they are badly mistaken. They had better study the records. As long as we have a prosperous 4th Congressional District, THEN BIG D WILL PROSPER—or do they want us to prosper—Folks remember the McKinney Veterans Hospital — remember that some of the folks in Dallas still would like to close our own Veterans Hospital—and close anything that Dallas would benefit by—provided they could move it to Dallas. Yes, we think that Sam Rayburn is for America first, second and always. Of course Sam Rayburn is a DEMOCRAT AND THE DALLAS NEWS DOES NOT LIKE THAT.

Miss Fay Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Smith, is reported to be improving nicely in the City-County Hospital where she underwent surgery recently. She is able to be up some and expects to be reported to her home soon.

Farm Housing Loan Program Expanded To Speed Farm Building

An expanded farm housing loan program, designed to speed up farm building contruction improvement as well as act as an additional anti-recession measure, was announced today Walter T. McKay, Farmers Home Administration State Director, according to C. Leon Hurse, the agency's local County Supervisor.

Now an owner of a farm in agricultural production and on which the operator plans to produce at least $400. worth of farm commodities for sale or home use may qualify for the 4 percent long-term housing loan provided that he meets other standard eligibility requirements.

Formerly an eligible applicant had to own a farm that produced a more substantial part of the operator's annual cash income.

Loans may be made to build, improve, or repair farm houses or other essential farm buildings, and to provide water for farmstead and household use, Mr. Hurse said that in addition to financing major construction, the loan funds can help meet many other needs for farm and farm home modernization such as adding bathrooms, utility rooms, better kitchens, and many other improvements to the home as well as to farm service buildings. While tenants and farm laborers are not eligible, the owner may borrow to do the construction work or make improvements for them.

The loans are made to farm owners who need credit to finance building improvements or repairs, but find that adequate credit is not available through banks or other regular credit channels. The interest rate is 4 percent and loans may be amortized over periods up to 33 years.

Eligibility for loan assistance is determined by three-member County Farmers Home Administration Committee, and applications are now being accepted.

Public Library Has Collection Memorial Books

One of the interesting features in the Memorial Public Library is its collection of Memorial Books. A book placed in your Public Library makes a wonderful Memorial. It can serve several purposes. Besides keeping the memory of loved ones alive in the City and Community it can tie in with the person's special interest and hobbies. It helps others who are interested in similar fields, and adds valuable books to the Library collection.

The Library has recently received three books as Memorials, a million dollars worth of advice by prominent people as told to Garland Farmer, Sr. was given by the Sesame Club in memory of Mr. Thomas Johnson. This book contains valuable advice for young and old.

Thirteen Days To Glory is a story of the siege of the Alamo by Lon Tinkle. Mr. Tinkle is book editor of the Dallas News and descendent of one of the Alamo heroes. The book is a gripping account of the glorious epic in the annuals of Texas. Lon Tinkle vividly brings to life the sage of 150 determined men, poor in equipment but not in spirit who waited endlessly at the Alamo for reinforcements that never arrived. This book on Texas History was given by Mrs. Paul Young and Mr. Gibson Caldwell in memory of Miss Ethel Russell, McKinney schools.

Robert Stewart Hyer, The Man I Knew was written by his daughter Ray Hyer Brown. Dr. Hyer was professor of Science, Southwestern University 1882-1911, and president there 1898-1911. He was first president of Southern Methodist University 1911-1920 and professor of physics 1911-1929. He was a pioneer in experimental science in Texas, and he designed the campus and first building of Southern Methodist University. This interesting and informative book was given by Mrs. Jesse Speight in memory of her mother in the name of the Owl Club.

A Memorial book plate is placed in the front of each book given with the name of the Library, the donor and the name of the person in whose memory the book is given. On receipt of the book or money for a Memorial book, a card of thanks is sent to the donor acknowledging the gift, and a card is sent to the family

All memorial books and gifts are greatly appreciated by the Library and its patrons, and they are a living tribute to loved ones.

Mayor and Mrs. Lon Stapp of Blue Ridge visited Gus Haesner at the VA Hospital in McKinney and Mrs. Tilma Riley and Mrs. Joe Shinn who are in the City-County Hospital.

Roughly, 1 out of 5 Texas autos have not been inspected as required by State law and there remains but 14 more working days prior to the inspection deadline on April 15.

Colonel Homer Garrison, Jr., Director of the Texas Department of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said today that some 760,000 motor vehicles must still pass through the inspection lines prior to that date if their owners are to avoid being handed tickets for violation of the Motor Vehicle Inspection Law. Enforcement will begin April 16, he said.

"It is still possible," said Garrison, "for the State's 4500 licensed inspection stations to handle the last minute rush provided that motorists take their cars immediately in order that there will be no deplayed period between the handling of one vehicle and the next."

The Public Safety Director pointed out that every minute of the inspection stations' time will be at a premium between now and midnight April 15, and that waiting lines will be in store for those who wait as the deadline draws nearer.

Lavon Dam Curbs Severe Flood In Rain

The Army Corps of Engineers Monday credited Lavon Dam with preventing severe floods in Kaufman County after the heavy rains last week-end.

Mike McCarroll of Fort Worth district engineer reported that from midnight Friday until 8 a.m. Saturday some 6,300 cubic feet of water a second poured into Lake Lavon. At times the amount reached 10,000 cubic feet a second.

Meanwhile, the Kaufman County Levee Improvement Districts No. 5 and 10 reported that Duck and Rowlett Creeks below Lavon Dam near Crandall already were carrying 5,500 cubic feet of water a second during the height of the storms.

Since these two creeks flood when they are forced to carry more than 7,000 cubic feet a second, the water held back by Lavon Dam prevented serious flood damage in Kaufman County, Colonel Wells explained.

- 2 cups canned or cooked tomatoes
- 1 cup nonfat dry milk solids
- 2 cups coarse, dry bread crumbs
- 2 tablespoons, finely chopped onion
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- 1-8 teaspoon dry mustard

Place all ingredients into a bowl in order given. Mix well. The mixture will be sticky. Shape into loaf in a shallow pan. Bake uncovered 350 degrees F. about 1½ hours. Serves 8.

DRY MILK WILL CUT COST AND CALORIES.

Homemakers interested in trimming the food budget or keeping family figures in line, can rely on non-fat dry milk solids, or dry milk, to help.

Dry milk is high in food value . . . only the fat, vitamin A, and some of the amino acids contained in whole, fresh milk have been removed. This means fewer calories.

It is less expensive than whole, fresh milk, and can be stored without refrigeration, in its dry form. After it has been converted to liquid form, it should be refrigerated.

There are many ways to use this nutritious food in family meals. It can be whipped for use as a dessert topping, chilled and used as a beverage, converted into a delicious buttermilk, or used in any recipe that calls for milk.

SPOT - OILING JOHNSON GRASS

Johnsongrass can be killed to the ground by the application of one-third teaspoon of a herbicidal oil to the brown of each stem, according to Fred C. Elliott, cotton work specialist.

Many naptha oils and oil mixtures are satisfactory for the crown treatment of established Johnsongrass. Diesel fuel oil and kerosene kill tender second-growth Johnsongrass when the temperatures are high. Proven fortifiers can be added to diesel fuel oil or kerosene according to the manufacturer's directions to increase the contact effectiveness of the oils.

A knapsack sprayer or a gravity-flow sprayer work very well when spraying scattered bunches of Johnsongrass. Knapsack sprayers cost from $25 to $30 each. A gravity-flow sprayer can be constructed for about $10.

Treatment should begin as early in the season as practical. The use of the oil should be restricted to treatment established Johnsongrass in the crop row unless previous cultivations have not killed the grass in the middles. Treat all live Johnsongrass each time the field is oiled and do not hoe the crowns that have been oiled. For additional information please contact us.

EXTERNAL PARASITES SHOUD BE CONTROLLED, SAYS BULLETIN

External parasites are a constant menace to livestock and poultry and lower the producers' profits by decreasing production by sucking blood from the animals, transmitting diseases, and causing loss of energy by annoyance.

But there is little excuse for letting these pests exist — something can be done about them, according to a leaflet just released by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service entitled "Texas Guide for Controlling External Parasites of Livestock and Poultry."

The leaflet gives detailed information on some of the more common pests including some of their characteristics and the nature of the damage they do.

It also contains a chart which gives some of the more serious and common parasites of beef cattle, dairy cattle, sheep, goats, swine, and poultry as well as the treatment for these parasites and some interesting remarks about them.

Too, it contains a dilution chart for mixing sprays and the tolerances for residues of DDT, methoxychlor, malathion and toxaphene in the meat of certain animals. These tolerances have been established by the Pure Food and Drug Adiministration.

This leaflet can be of much value to any operator who is faced with the program of controlling external parasites of livestock or poultry. It may be obtained from the local county agents office.

Thomas Holloway, local manager for the Western Union, is confined to his home with illness. His many friends wish fo rhis speedy recovery.

J. M. Whisenant Is Popular North Texas Banker

J. M. WHISENANT

One of North Texas' most popular young bankers is J. M. Whisenant, born and reared at Allen, Collin County. He is a son of Mrs. M. Whisenant and the late Mr. Whisenant of Allen, where he graduated from High School. Johnny, as he is familiarly known to his host of friends, began his banking career as a boy, in the Allen bank.

He attended Baylor University at Waco, upon finishing High School and completed his business training at Metropolitan Business College, in Dallas.

Whisenant was in private business for a year, and also employed with the Magnolia Petroleum Company for a period of time. Another two years was spent in the Navy, but he returned to banking upon his discharge from the service. He had advanced from the bookkeeping department to loan officer and assistant vice president of the Central National Bank here before assuming the presidency of the Collin County National Bank, January 1, 1955.

Capable of handling any responsibility placed upon him, and a natural ability for leadership, placed him in many responsible positions in the community. The Chamber of Commerce enjoyed a successful year under his presidency, and he has continued his interest in that organization by serving as chairman of the Industrial Foundation:. Whisenant has spent much time in his efforts to establish the Foundation, and feels that the fruits of his labor are soon to be realized.

He was the first president of the Greater McKinney United Fund, organized here three years ago, and he has also served as president of the Lions Club, Junior Chamber of Commerce, and numerous other civic organizations.

A Deacon in the First Baptist Church, he has long been faithful in the activities of that church. He was superintendent of the Sunday School, teacher of a Men's Class, worked in the Training Union and is past president of the Country Brotherhood. For a number of years Johnny was a Scout Master, as well as on the Boy Scout District Committee. He was co-chairman of the finance drive in the Scout program here last year.

Any time an organization begins working a better and more progressive community, Johnny Whisenant is always found as a part of that organization.

The Whisenant family includes Johnny and his wife, the former Ruth Lindley, and three fine sons, Benny, Bill and David.

M'Kinney Lions Win Over Frisco By Score 8-7

Jerry Hall sent two runners across the plate with a double in the top of the seventh inning to give the McKinney Lions an 8-7 win over the Frisco Coons Tuesday afternoon at Frisco in an exhibition baseball game.

Hall, the Lions' hard-hitting freshman, connected with his game-winning hit with two out and sent shortstop Robert Jopin and thirdbaseman Don Holmes scampering home with the tying and winning runs. Joplin opened the inning by drawing a free ticket and Holmes singled before Mike Justice and Tommy Lane went down via the strikeout route.

The Lions scored twice in the first and came back with two more in the second to take the lead but the Coons counted four times in the bottom of the second to tie the score, and then took the lead with two in the third and one in the fourth before the Lions pulled up to a 1-run deficit with two runs in the fifth.

LANE WINNER.

Don Jenkins started for the Lions but was treated rather roughly by the Coons before being derricked in favor of Lane. Lane clamped down on the Frisco nine and hurled scoreless ball for the final three innings to receive credit for the victory. Smotherman started for Frisco and was relieved by Mays in the seventh. Mays was the loser.

HALL PACES HITTERS.

In addition to his game-winning double, Hall had another double and a single in five trips to pace the batters for the day. Andrews and Rhea connected for two-basers for the Coons with Rhea adding a single in his three times at bat. Lane and Don Wharton, had two for three, and Holmes two for four, to join Hall in the Lions' 11-hit porduction.

LIONS FOURTH VICTORY.

The victory was the fourth in five starts for Coach Rusty Talbot's nine. Their only loss was to the Denton Bronco last Friday after they had defeated the Bronco earlier in the week.

Industrial Plants Are Major Factors In Local Economy

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

McKinney is joining other cities of the state in observance of Texas Industrial Week this week, Tuesday, April 1, through Monday, April 7.

During the past half century the economy of the state has undergone rapid growth and dramatic change. New technologies riding on a crest of vast resource potential have created new economic dimensions in a state that, in 1900, was largely agrarian in character.

Striking developments have resulted from the discovery and use of the massive reserves of crude oil and natural gas. Consequent growth of an extensive refining industry and of a complex organic chemical industry have multiplied the economic importance of the oil and gas resources.

Availability of cheap energy sources has encouraged the large-scale development of other industries. Inorganic chemicals, primary metals, and the wood products industries have experienced impressive growth.

Although the dominant feature of the Texas economy is the production and intermediate processing of mineral wealth, other activities contribute significantly. Agriculture has declined in relative importance, but agricultural income and employment are still prominent factors. World War II stimulated the development of a number of defense-based industries, notably aircraft assembly, which have since become a permanent section of the Texas economy. Increasing population has induced growth in a wide variety of consumer-goods industries and services.

The highly strategic role which Texas plays in the national economy makes it important to consider the future of the state in the widest possible terms. The future of the oil industry, for example, depends upon more than future availability of crude within the state or region. It will react to the competition offered by alternative sources of energy, to availability of competing supplies of crude, and to the total national demand for petroleum products.

Texas' economic development will thus be modified by national and global political, social, and technical consideration. Expansion of population and purchasing power will, of course, affect those segments of the state's economy geared to serving state and regional demands.

McKinney is not lagging in this period of progress, thanks to the vision of many civic-minded citizens. Agriculture remains an important factor in the life of McKinney and Collin County, but new industries and businesses, are developing steadily. The steady increase in population, and the vast construction underway bear out this fact.

The McKinney Chamber of Commerce, seeking to lure new industry and payrolls into the community, keeps in touch with prospects at all times, but also works with local plants and businesses in helping them whenever possible.

Industry does not necessarily have to be a big manufacturing plant. However, it is surprising how many industries actually operate in McKinney.

A conservative forecast is for continued growth and progress in this city and county for 1958, over the past year. Completion of the new expressway, County Memorial Hospital, High School, all play an important part in bringing "new faces" to McKinney. Plans are already underway for enlarging elementary school buildings. Retail businesses are "popping up" all over town, and the new homes erected exceed the city limits in all directions.

The Editors of the Daily Courier-Gazette and Weekly Democrat-Gazette, join our citizenship in honoring the following local industries of McKinney:

TEXAS POWER & LIGHT CO.

An ample supply of electric power is being furnished the North Texas area by the Collin Generating Station of Texas Power & Light Company. The 110,000 kilowatt plant is located on 250 acres of land, about halfway between Frisco and Prosper in West Collin County. The plant was put in operation in June, 1955.

The plant follows the "outdoor" design and is similiar to other TP&L generating stations with the exception that it is the only one that uses a cooling tower instead of lake water to cool water for the condenser.

The cooling tower is constructed of redwood lumber and is 40 feet high, 86 feet wide and 211 feet long. It has 14 cells and fourteen 22-foot diameter fans. It cools the condenser-circulating water at the rate of 85,000 gallons per minute, after it passes through the conenser.

The Collin Plant works in conjunction with the other TP&L generating stations throughout the Company's service area in furnishing electricity to customers in north, east and central Texas. The other generating stations are River Crest Generating Station near Paris, the Trinidad Generating Station near Athens and the Lake Creek Generating Station near Waco. An additional 200,000 kilowatt generator will be added to the Lake Creek Generating Station in 1959 and the new Stryker Generating Station, northwest of Nacogdoches, will be put in service this summer

The Collin Plant's generator currently has the largest capacity of any on the TP&L system. This turbo-generator has a total weight of more than a million pounds and is installed on a concrete pedestal.

Steam to drive the turbine is generated in a boiler with a capacity of 1,500,000 pounds of steam an hour at 1,500 pounds per square inch pressure and 1,005 degrees fahrenheit temperature. The boiler also is currently the largest capacity boiler on the TP&L system. The installation weights more than 7 million pounds, is 170 feet high and has 2 steel stacks nine and and one-half feet in diameter and 195 feet high.

BALL SEWING MACHINE DISTRIBUTORS.

McKinneyites will be pleased to learn that a local business man has more to his credit than selling sewing machines. He actually makes them. That is, he has directed a research program since 1952 designed to develop for the American market a low-priced automatic sewing machine. The product means profit for the dealer, minimum service problems, and troubles-free, simplified operation for the consumer.

H. L. Ball, owner of Ball Sewing Machine Distribution, in McKinney, had the idea for the Ball-O-Matic, a real contribution to the sewing machine industry. Ball's idea was not the manufacture of a new line of sewing machines, but only to develop a mechanism converting manually-operated zig-zag machines to efficient, low-cost automatics. Four years of testing, and some $67,500, in producing this machine, brought the final results, Japanese machines are now converted for automatic sewing in B&B's assembly plant and warehouse in McKinney, located on North Tennesse Street.

FINNEY'S FRESH BREAD.

Seventeen routes covering Collin, Grayson, Denton, Rockwall, Cooke, Montague, Fannin and parts of Dallas counties take Finney's Fresh Bread to customers and consumers every day. W. B. (Bill) Finney, owner, of Finney's bakery and Dixie Pastry Shop, has been supplying these famous bread products for the past twenty years.

The Finney's bought Knott's Bakery in February 1938. At that time Jack Finney came to McKinney from Paris, and operated the business. A few months later Bill Finney took over the active management of the bakery when Jack moved to Greenville to go into business.

During the past twenty years the local plant has more than doubled in size, including building, garage, workshop and parking area. The bakery fronts North Tennessee Street, at the corner of Heard, while the garage and workshop are entered from Heard and Kentucky streets.

The Pastry Shop, carries a full line of pies, cakes, rolls and cookies, catering to party and holiday desserts in this line, and is conveniently located in the downtown area, on West Louisiana St.

Bill Finney keeps the equipment in his bakery up to date, adding new machinery when necessary. From time to time new products in the bread line are introduced.

Some 85 employes are associated with "Finney Fresh Bread." C. P. Legate is office manager for the bakery; G. H. Ramsey, sales manager, and H. A. DeMoss, production superintendent.

COPE'S CERAMICS.

Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Cope, both employed at the Veterans Administration Hospital here, operate a small industry here in their off hours. Their Ceramics, consisting of souvenirs and gift items are known throughout the state, where they are sold. The Ceramic shop is located at the Martin-Kemp Lumber Company on South Tennessee Street, where kilns, molds, and other necessary equipment is used to turn out the variety of items.

Mrs. Cope, an artist in her own right, designs most of the figures, and also paints them before they go into the kiln for baking. The Copes mold the figures themselves. They have conducted this business for the past two years, and spend all of their spare time at the shop in an effort to keep up with the orders. They have one full-time assistant to help in the work.

NEHI BOTTLING CO.

The Nehi Bottling Company first established a plant on East Louisiana Street in 1926 where it operated for a time, before moving to Wood Street, present location. Later H. L. Shoap purchased the plant and took over its operation, having continuously directed the business. For the past 12 years Fred McKinney has been associated as one of the owners, but he had been with the company 12 years prior to that.

Nehi Bottling Company has 14 regular employes, and operates five to seven trucks which cover a trade territory of four North Texas counties— Collin, Denton, Hunt and Grayson. The company also has customers in parts of Fannin County.

When first put in operation fruit flavored drinks were bottled, but in 1936 Royal Crown was introduced and has proved one of the most popular items produced by the company. From time to time the business has demanded expansion, and the plant now occupies a building which faces on West Virginia, a portion of Wood street on the East, and Herndon Street on the North.

The daily capacity of the plant is 1,400 cases of the popular beverage, and the yearly payroll amounts to $40,000.

M'KINNEY PANTS MFG. CO.

The McKinney Pants Manufacturing Company, one of six Southwestern plants producing Haggar Slacks for retail stores all over the country, has been a vital part of McKinney economy since 1946. The plant is managed by Raul Saba.

The McKinney plant, according to Mr. Saba, was established here because of the philosophy of J. M. Haggar Sr., founder and chairman of the Board of Haggar Company, national trouser company with headquarters in Dallas. Mr. Haggar believed that by channeling some of his payrolls into the smaller towns, the company could attract the abilities of local people to localized plants—home people, often housewives, who would bring to the careful making of a quality product the same pride of achievement that is baked into a loaf of homemade bread.

Mr. Haggar's foresight in choosing McKinney paid off, and the McKinney Pants Manufacturing Company assumed an important part in the growing success of Haggar Slacks. The market demand for Haggar Slacks became so heavy that in 1954 the original McKinney plant was replaced by a larger, modern, air-conditioned plant, employing assembly-line efficiency and offering unexcelled working conditions. Other plants producing Haggar Slacks, fully as modern, are located in the Texas cities of Dallas, Greenville, Corsicana and Waxahachie. In addition, last year a sixth plant was opened in Temple, Okla. The production floor space of the six plants totals over 350,000 square feet, devoted solely to the making of Haggar Slacks.

These huge, modern facilities are a far step indeed from the small rented headquarters where J. M. Haggar Sr., started in downtown Dallas in 1926. In those days, Mr. Haggar personally bought all materials, supervised production and handled all sales.

Today, his oldest son, E. R. Haggar, has succeeded his father in the presidency of Haggar Company while another son, J. M. Haggar Jr., is secretary-treasurer and is in charge of production for all plants. The philosophy of better quality, values and styling established by the founder still guides the company in its operations.

As Joe Haggar declared recently, "Dad is the guiding light around here." Ed joined in, "He's the chief all right — and that's what we call him."

E. R. Haggar stated that Haggar Company has always believed that dramatic and exciting ideas, in both products and merchandising, were essential in the men's apparel industry. For example, Haggar Company pioneered the idea of wash and wear slacks which have proved so popular with American men in the past few years. Among the many merchandising ideas used to promote Haggar Slacks were the "Mix and Match" advertising campaign that showed clothes-conscious men how they could have many different outfits on a small budget, the "Harmony Chart" which helped make men color-conscious in clothes, and the "Slack for Girls" idea that fully exploited slacks as the perfect gift for men on Father's Day and Christmas. Year after year, Haggar Slacks have the most advertised trouser brand in America and the No. 1 brand in sales.

Americans all over the land are finding economy, comfort and versatility in wardrobes featuring slacks for work and play. In the past decade or two, the trend to casual clothes has been almost a revolution that the Haggars have not only catered to, but also, in an important way, have been instrumental in creating.

MASCOTS, INC.

The product of Mascots, Inc., is exactly what the name implies—mascots. They are in all colors, and shapes, and represent practically all schools and organizations.

Ed Hall is local manager of the company, while T. B. Nolan, co-owner, is salesman. The product consists of stuffed animals, or objects, representative of colleges, schools, civic clubs, etc. They are made up in colors according to the order, and have become popular with students from the elementary grades through high school and college, all over the country.

Located in the Elks Building on North Kentucky Street, the number of people employed depends upon the season, when the mascots are at the height of their popularity. The payroll of the company also varies for this season. Mr. Hall, who operates the factory, has identified himself with local civic organizations, and has made a host of friends during the few months he has been in business here.

PEN MEAT PACKERS.

In October 1955 Pen Meat Packers located in McKinney, buliding a modern meat factory just outside the city limits on Highway 24 East. During these two and a half years the building has been enlarged twice, the company at the present time adding more killing floor space. Plans are to build more cooler spaces in the early summer, announces V. F. Farley, manager.

The plant is owned by D. D. Newsom and R. V. Elliott of Mount Vernon, the former also having a plant there.

The McKinney plant empolyes 34 local people, the yearly payroll passing $125,000. Four cattle trucks and five meat delivery trucks are operated, and the trade territory includes Plano, McKinney, Richardson, Garland, Dallas, Fort Worth and Seagoville. Wholesale meat jobbers in Dallas and Fort Worth and grocery stores in the other cities handle Pen Meat Packers products.

The plant slaughters and sells beef and beef by-products, which are also furnished the Safeway meat warehouse in Garland.

Manager Farley states the plant, modern in every respect, holds McKinney insepction, Dallas and Fort Worth permits and U. S. Government grading.

Farmers in the surrounding territory find this packing house under able management, offering the best market pirce for cattle.

BLASKE BAG CO.

Three people operate a full time manufacturing company in McKinney the Blaske Bag Company—located 1908 North Church Street, just North of the Highway 24 intersection. Emil Blaske, owner, makes sausage bags for customers all over North and East Texas. In fact, he supplies his customers with from twelve to fifteen thousand of these bags during the Fall and Winter.

Mr. Blaske, veteran of World War II during which time he was wounded, conducts the business from a wheel chair. He has two machines, a small printing press and other necessary equipment for manufacturing the one and two-pound bags. Each sack is inner lined with pure vegetable parchment paper.

Assisting him in the business are his wife, and one full-time worker.

Blaske is a native of Collin County, born at Princeton. He was in leathercraft when he first returned from the war, but in 1951 began making sausage sacks. He likes the work, which not only provides a living for his family, but keeps him busy. At the present time the production is around 10,000 bags per week, and will tend to decrease through the summer. However there is a demand for his product the year round.

McKINNEY CONCRETE CO.

The only permanent ready-mix concrete busines of the kind in McKinney is the McKinney Concrete Company, located at 811 East Virginia Street, adjoining the Eastern edge of the city. Roy Porter is manager, the company employing five men and operating four trucks.

The concrete, known as transit-mix, is sold direct to the individual or contractor, the composition being mixed as it is trucked from place to place. Large mixers are mounted on trucks, and the concrete is ready for pouring by the time the truck reaches a designated job.

Boyd Ware of Gainesvile is owner of the company.

TEXAS TEXTILE MILLS.

McKinney's largest industry, the Texas Textile Mills, operating on two full shifts and a partial third shift, gives employment to 610 people in and around McKinney. The total payroll is some $30,000 per week, most of which is "spent at home."

Frank W. Smith, manager, has been with the mill for more than 35 years. B. C. Miller of Dallas is the president of Texas Textile Mills. The company operates two manufacturing plants—McKinney and Waco.

Products from the McKinney plant, blue denim for jeans and overalls, and sport denims, go to many states of the Union. Some export business is also done by the company, reports Manager Smith.

It will be remembered that in May, 1948, the mill was practically demolished in the worse disaster in the history of our town. Fourteen months later, the building had been rebuilt, enlarged, and equipped with new machinery, ready for full scale production again. Today it is one of the most modern plants in the Southwest.

It will be remembered that the the mill was originally organized here in 1910 by local capital, known as the Texas Cotton Mill Company. In 1827 the company was reorganized as the Texas Textile Mills, with C. R. Miller at the head.

In addition to the plant proper, two big warehouses have been built in recent years, and a large parking area provided for employes, all located on a 12 acre tract in Southeast McKinney.

CABELL'S INC.

The addition of 2100 square feet to Cabell's big ice cream and dairy products plant on North Tennessee Street, has increased the size of the entire plant to 17,100 square feet. The expansion was necessary when the McKinney plant recently installed a new Eskimo Pie machine, the only one of its kind in Texas, and one of 17 in operation in the United States.

Jack Jouett, plant manager in McKinney, oversees the production of 160 separate packages of ice cream, cottage cheese and butter, manufactured here for all Cabell dealers. Considered one of McKinney's outstanding industries, Cabell's products are made in a modern, building under most sanitary conditions.

A total of 60 employes carry on the work at the plant, and the weekly payroll reaches $200,000.

OSTROM MATTRESS CO.

Mr. Ostrom makes and renovates mattresses, but upholstering is his speciality. He remakes and remodels furniture, and does some repairwork, but does not refinish furniture. He carries a full line of samples from which upholstery fabrics may be selected, and he is capable of remodeling any style of furniture.

The Ostroms do most of the work themselves but have a part time helper when necessary. Their customers are in many parts of Texas and they also ship to Oklahoma, New Mexico and Louisiana. In fact Mr. Ostrom says "our trade territory is as far as there is a telephone." They have enjoyed a successful business not only from McKinney and Collin County people but from other places and are proud to have a part in the business interests of the community.

ALLEN'S WHOLESALE MEATS

Allen's Wholesale Meats located on a 15-acre tract just South of the City limits, is a modern, $75,000 meat packing plant, owned by Mrs. Alfred Allen and her son, Alfred J. Allen Jr., the latter actively managing the business.

The name Allen has been identified with the meat business in Collin County for many years. The late William Allen originated Allen's Market here many years ago. Later his son, Alfred J. Allen Sr., joined him and continued in the business throughout his life-time.

Alfred Jr., the third generation to carry on the business, has expanded the business into a full-scale packing plant, which covers all of Collin County, extending South to Richardson; North to Denison and East to Greenville. Most of the cattle and hogs processed by the palnt, are purchased in North Texas.

This modern plant, has installed the most modern equipment, and the 50 by 100 brick building includes separate slaughtering, rendering and processing rooms, hide vat, quick freeze room and two cooking rooms. Fifteen full time employes are on the job at all times and three trucks operate throughout the trade territory.

Allen's handles beef and pork, and their by-products, specializing in pork sausage, beef sausage such as weiners and frankfurters, chili, lard, and other items. They wrap and process wholesale cuts for home freezers, and also custom-work meat for freezer owners. In fact, they handle a full line of packing house products.

The payroll, well over $3,000 per month, makes Allen's wholesale Meats another asset for McKinney, in that the large percent of it "stays at home."

BOX UPHOLSTERY SHOP.

A small frame building on South Wilcox Street housed the first shop where C. G. Box began his automobile upholstery business. J. D. Webster was associated with him and they specialized in seat covers and car upholstering. That was in 1947.

Since that time the business has steadily grown and larger quarters were necessary on several different occasion. Today C. G. Box, sole owner, is located on South Tennessee Street, in a large building adjoining the Glenn Thomason Service Station. Box bought out the interest of his partner, J. D. Webster, July 3, 1954, and has since conducted the business himself. He has expanded from car upholstery to furniture recovering, and just recently added custom-made draperies. He is also specializing in boat upholstering which is growing into quite a lucrative business.

Mr. Box has associated with him, Mrs. Lois Spradling, seamstress; Johnny Blankenship, car upholstery specialist; Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Johnson, furniture work; James Tinsley, part time helper and Gilbert Box, who helps his father part time.

A full line of samples for all of their work is available at all times. Handmade leather handbags and throw pillows are also offered for sale, with a large selection on hand at all times.

M'TEE MATTRESS FACTORY

Old cotton mattresses can now be made into new inner-spring mattresses at the McTee Mattress Factory, an old established McKinney business. C. L. McTee, the owner, has been at the same location, 210 East Davis Street since 1922, having started the business in a small building near the McKinney Laundry on East Louisiana Street, 39 years ago.

Assisted by Mrs. McTee, they take pride in their business and have kept up with the trend by installing new equipment from time to time. The quality of their work is know far and wide, and on occasions they have shipped to all parts of the United States, and even to China. The regularly do work for customers over North Texas. At peak seasons they have six people on full time employment.

Besides mattress-making, the McTees handle metal and canvas awnings, glides, lawn chairs, and many other items. The canvas work they do themselves and also install awnings.

WALLACE GRAIN & FEED.

The Wallace Grain and Feed Company has been a McKinney industry for over a half century, but was originally the Hill & Webb Elevator Co. Located in the same spot, 400 East Louisiana Street, during these many years, the company has for the past two years been owned and operated by Bob Wallace. Prior to that W. T. Dungan operated the business as the Dungan Grain and Feed Company.

Bob Wallace moved to McKinney from Fort Worth in May, 1956. His company operates seven trucks within a 60-mile radius of McKinney, covering some six Northeast Texas counties. There are 20 employes with the company, the annual payroll exceeding $50,000.

Mr. Wallace specializes in custom feed formulations for his customers, and in harvest season operates a 55,000 grain elevator. The company also maintains a full time salesman on the road.

RESTWELL MATTRESS.

Mr. and Mrs. L. V. James established the Restwell Mattress Company in McKinney in July, 1951, at 1436 North Church St. During this period of time their business has successfully increased and just recently an expansion of the building was completed. Specializing in mattress making, the company also makes awnings, slip covers, draperies and does upholstering.

The building has a modern, fully equipped workshop, and a large all-glass showroom.

Mr. and Mrs. James do all the work themselves and have proved popular members of the community in their business venture here. They make free pickups and deliveries within a 35-mile radius of McKinney.

HAGGARD GRAIN AND FEED MILL.

Custom grinding, which began in pioneer days, continues popular at the Haggard Grain and Feed Mill, 201 South Wilcox Street. Willian Haggard, the owner, operates the business on a full time scale, manufacturing feed. In the old days the grist mill was a popular part of the community life, where grains were milled for flour, meal and other food items. Today the specialty is for stock and poultry feed.

Haggard does custom-mixing for stock and poultry owners and also handles hay, fertilizers, seeds and a full line of feed.

The company has five full-time employes, and operates four trucks through Northeast and North Central Texas.

Mr. Haggard is a member of a pioneer Cillin family, moving to McKinney from Plano four years ago. He purchased the grain and feed mill business here from Roy Roberts.

JACK WEEKS SAUSAGE.

The quality of Jack Weeks' pure pork sausage is known throughout the United States, and each year this tasty McKinney product is shipped to many states. Jack Weeks, a sausage-maker here since 1918, has given full time to the business which has steadily grown each year.

In 1928 he established quarters and set up the unit for making pure pork sausage. Year-by-year the business grew, and as it became necessary Mr. Weeks installed more equipment to his plant. On several occasions the building has been enlarged, and new, modern machinery purchased to replace older equipment.

Weeks' sausage, "made from the whole hog," is packed in one and two-pound bags. The past three years hickory smoked bacon has become one of the more popular items produced at the plant, and the plant is often swamped with orders for spareribs, backbones and liver.

Mr. Weeks makes regular deliveries within McKinney and other towns in this area. His trade territory extends to within a 50-mile radius, besides the many orders shipped out. While Fall and Winter are peak seasons for his product, Weeks' Sausage Plant operates the year-round. Five people work full time, J. L. Ferguson having been the plant manager for the past two years.

Chamber of Commerce . . . CORNER

By PAT SIMPSON, Manager

April 1 to April 7 has been declared Texas Industrial Week. You have been reminded of McKinney's industry by the two local papers and the radio station this week. It is well that we consider the value of industry and payrolls in a community and compare our community with others to see what we do have. Industry and payrolls are not the one answer to having a good community but they do form a major factor in the total community. We in McKinney are fortunate in the industries we do have and in the fact that we rate with the top 20 percent of the towns in Texas. . .comparing the number of people employed in industry to the total population.

Here is a letter we received from Mr. L. H. Jones, of Lawton, Oklahoma, which shows we are envied by some communities and should be proud of what we do have: "I'm on an Industrial Committee to secure industry for Lawton. Would you please send me information on what industries you have in your city and how many people are employed; how much you had to spend on buildings, and how you went about securing them? I was impressed with your Textile Mill on passing through your city the other night, and also the Junior Chamber Recreation building. Someone must know their "P's" and "Q's" in your organization."

The Sales Management magazine gave results of a survey from towns scattered throughout the nation regarding what a new factory employing 100 people will mean to a community. The 100 new employees will bring employment to 144 people in addition to the factory workers. This is broken down as follows: Retail Trade, 33; Construction, 25; Professional, 14; Transportation, 13; Repair Service, 5; Wholesale, 5; Public Administration, 5; Finance and Insurance, 4; Entertainment, 2; Agriculture and Produce, 31; Misc. Services, 7.

This same 100 new factory workers can be expected to bring into the community 396 more people; 112 more households; 51 more school children; 107 more passenger cars; 4 more retail stores; $590,000 more annual personal income; $270,00 more bank deposits; $360,000 more retail sales per year.

This $360,000 per year retail sales can be expected to be broken down by stores in the average community as follows: grocery stores, $70,000; eating and drinking places, $30,000; department, dry goods and variety stores, $45,000; clothing and shoes, $25,000; automobile dealers, $50,000; gas stations, $20,000; lumber and building material, $15,000; other stores, $105,000.

We should be aware of the fact that other towns would like to have our plants and make attractive offers to them. Here is part of a letter the McKinney Pant Manufacturing Company received some two years ago: "The sincere purpose of this letter is to invite you and your company to investigate the possibility of locating a subsidiary plant or if you are considering moving your present location. Let me assure you that you would be welcome in Plainview and Hale County and we would be willing to cooperate with you and your officials in any way possible."

Collin Soil District To Receive More Federal Assistance

Collin Soil Conservation District and the other Soil Conservation Districts of the Trinity Watershed are due to receive about one-third more Federal assistance for its flood prevention program next fiscal year, according to information given the Board of Supervisors by H. N. Smith, State Conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service from Temple, Texas.

Smith in a recent meeting at McKinney, told the Collin Board and others interested in the flood prevention work that President Eisenhower's program to increase pubic works activities as a means of counteracting the recession had made about $1 million additional money available for upstream flood prevention work in the Trinity River for the 1959 fiscal year.

John Wells, Chairman of the Board, stated that this would necessitate a speed up on the parts of the District and local watershed associations in getting easements and clearing sites for construction. Mr. Smith said that the additional load of the accelerated program would cause the SCS to add additional technicians to their planning and construction parties.

Paul Hardin, Chairman of the East Fork Watershed Association, commented that "Members of our association can be depended upon to help in this effort to speed up this work so vital to our area."

Carl Spencer, Executive Director of the State Soil Conservation Board from Temple, Texas also met with the group and expressed his groups' concern over this increased effort. He stated that the State Board is working toward making joint assistance between sub-divisions of the State possible where there is mutual interest in an endeavor. He said this could apply to counties, Soil Conservation Districts or Water Conservation and Improvement Districts.

Others attending the meeting were C. H. Ray, Vice-President North Texas Municipal Water District; Ray Roberts, State Senator from McKinney; Worley Smith, National Farm Loan Association. District supervisors attending were John Wells, J. O. Sterling, B. C. Wood, Charlie Cantrell and Eldon Jean.

The Pre-Easter revival at the Weston Baptist Church is scheduled to begin on Sunday March 30 and run through Sunday April 6. Sid Maples, a layman, from Denison is to be the speaker.

Mrs. A. A. Barry has had as recent visitors, Mrs. Wade Harlow and daughter Mrs. Vera Bybee of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Yeates and children of California.

Object Gives Out "Beep, Beep, Beep"

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (UP)—First there were three loud reports then a "beep, beep, beep . . ." from an object in the yard.

W. D. Loy walked out to investigate. He found a silvery cylinder shaped like a missile with an antenna protruding from the top.

Loy sent his family to the basement and called police. A crowd gathered.

"I picked it up and carried it to the middle of the road and the people really scattered," Loy said.

Police Capt. G. A. Stephens had more nerve. He unscrewed bolts holding the object together and found inside a beeping electric bicycle horn. There also was a note that read:

"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy. April fool."

WANTED: ONE CRANE.

MERIDIAN, Miss. (UP) — It took eight men to get a wrestler out of a movie theater here, but it wasn't because of his nasty disposition. It seems the 750-pound wrestler's name is "Big Happy Humphrey" and he was stuck in his seat.
